A tattoo puts ink into the skin with a needle and is meant to last for good. The main risk is an infection while it heals, which is why the aftercare matters, plus a smaller chance of an allergic reaction to the ink or of scarring. The questions below help your artist decide whether today is the right day for it.

We can't tattoo anyone under 18. In England, Wales and Scotland the law doesn't allow anyone under 18 to be tattooed, except for medical reasons by a doctor or someone working under their direction. Please bring photo ID with your date of birth on it.

Risks: a tattoo can become infected while it heals, especially if the aftercare isn't followed. Some people react to the ink, and a tattoo can leave a scar. It's meant to be permanent, and removing one is hard and doesn't always work fully. If it gets very red, swollen or sore while it heals, contact us or your GP.
